SIR ARTHUR PROROGUES PARLIAMENT

Niece of 'Bumovitch' Creates Considerable Disturbance

GOV'T. SUSTAINED

Bill on the Granting of Full Privileges to Women Passed

With all the pomp and ceremony that characterizes the opening of Parliament the Governor-General, Sir Arthur Currie, formally called the members to order for the third and last session of the term. The coalition government appeared very strong in comparison to the recently reorganized conservative opposition. The government won an overwhelming victory when they presented their measure for the enfranchisement of women throughout the Dominion. During the course of the debate the gliborators resorted sometimes to French to express their views and this coupled with the masculine tones of Miss Bumovitch, daughter of the lately executed Bolshevik Ivan Bumovitch provided plenty of excitement and music. At the end of the session the governor-general prorogued Parliament which will not open again till after the general elections in the fall. A light dancing party was then held for the tired M.P.'s and their wives.

The first ten minutes of the session were given to questions.

The opposition member from Remouski asked the Minister of Justice to give an account of what had been done to the famous Bolshevik, Bumovitch, who had so disturbed the previous sessions. In reply to this question, the Minister of Justice stated that the notorious Bumovitch had been taken to the far away island of Newfoundland under the case of the Royal Irish Pioneers better known as R.I.P.'s. The execution took place under a tree. The heart of a pig was placed upon the Russian's breast and a blanket having been placed over him the R.I.P.'s turned and fixed. Thus ended this most famous man's career.

The Minister of Justice explained including that two alternatives had been offered Bumovitch. To be either made secretary of the principal of the R.V.C. or to be executed in Newfoundland. He chose the latter means of death, it need hardly be stated why.

Another member of the Opposition then asked what the government had done to decrease the size of the holes in the dough-nuts at the Union. To make his remarks clear the hon. gentleman produced specimens. The Prime Minister in answering the question said that the size was entirely due to the fact that the Union cook used her thumb instead of her little finger in making the said dough-nuts. He stated that the government would take immediate steps to remedy this matter.

Another inquisitive member of the Opposition asked, with regard to the mace: did the R.V.C. miss half a curtain pole every time there was a session of the parliament. The speaker referred this question to the Minister of Way and Means who made it clear that the mace was of the greatest antiquity. In fact it had been taken from the tomb of Tentandhamen in Egypt.

A certain member asked the prime minister how he intended to fill all the vacant places in his cabinet due to some of the ministers changing their politics. The Prime-minister replied that to his knowledge he did not have so many empty seats and that after all the maximum of his cabinet was, "Quality rather than quantity."

There followed considerable interup-

CORPORATION DECIDES ON MANY CHANGES

Medicine in Future to be Seven Year Course

TWO CONVOCATIONS

May 29th and June 11th — Intend Change Next Year

Two convocations will be held at McGill again this spring in spite of the persistent rumours to the contrary which for some time have been circulating about the campus. It was announced at the meeting of the Corporation held on Wednesday afternoon that the convocation to be held on May 29th will be for the benefit of Arts, Law, Science, and other faculties and departments. On June 11th the Medical Faculty will hold a separate convocation of their own. It is the intention of the University authorities to arrange but one convocation to terminate the 1923-24 session.

It was a busy meeting which the members of the Corporation held to consider many and important changes, which will in no small manner affect present students and those coming up to McGill next fall for the first time. Reforms have been made to courses offered in medicine and Arts and in the Department of Commerce. Twelve (12) members were added to the faculty of Arts. Reports were read dealing with registration and progress being made in Physical Education; reports dealing with recent extension course in Export Trade. Constitutions which have been altered and also action was taken in the case of a student found guilty of dishonest practices during a recent examination, which resulted in expulsion from the university.

It has been decided to lengthen the three year course of the Commerce Department to extend over a period of four years, and a committee has been appointed to revise the existing curriculum. This committee includes: — Dean Laing, Professors Sugars, Sandwell, Hazen and Thompson.

In accordance with the new statute which admits associate professors to the faculty, twelve additional members have been added to the faculty of Arts including: Professors W. T. Waugh, W. D. Tait, A. H. S. Gillson, J. C. Hemmison, Carrie Derick, Latham and others who are eligible to be appointed in other departments of Arts, such as Chemistry and Physics.

It was with a feeling of success that a report was made of the recent Extension Course on Export Trade. When the course was outlined a very large enrollment was not anticipated and up to a few days of the final date for registration, returns were in keeping with the registrar received many applications for

CORRECTION.

The announcement in a local paper last night that the McGill Theatre Night would be held at the Allen Theatre on February 28 is incorrect. The Mandolin Club will play at that theatre in a "Jazz Night" entertainment, but the McGill Theatre Night will be held as previously announced, on March 22nd, at the St. Denis Theatre.

WESTERNERS HEAR ABOUT CHIROPRACTIC

Prof. Whitnall Talks on Trip in West

PRINCIPAL SPOKE

Sectionalism Discussed by Sir Arthur Currie

Over fifty members of the Western Club gathered together at a supper in the Union last night. Principal Sir A. W. Currie and Prof. Whitnall, of the Faculty of Medicine were the speakers of the evening. Music was supplied by Patterson, Harris, and Vango, all of the Western Club. After the inner man was satisfied, Cleland, president of the club, announced that the Honorary President, Sir Arthur W. Currie would address a few words to the gathering.

In opening, the Principal said he was pleased to be present amongst old acquaintances of the West.

The sectional clubs of the University were favored by him, although the argument was raised against the clubs that a sectional spirit was predominated which overshadowed the larger spirit of loyalty to the college. But he stated, — that sectionalism or provincialism in no way interfered with the greater loyalty to the college or toward Canada.

Before the war the peoples of Western and Eastern Canada held opposing views. There are five sections of the dominion, namely the Maritimes, mainly of old country descent; the people of Quebec of French and British descent, the Ontario-ites; the people of the vast prairie, and lastly the people of British Columbia. All five should be bound closely together unfortunately each province has its own views. This is seen especially in the systems of education of which each had its own method and each province thought its own way the best. Again this spirit was noticed in the Great War, when nearly everyone wanted a provincial unit to be reinforced by men only from that province. This was at times not practicable. Students at McGill were from all parts of Canada and the British Empire and the loyalty to the college was not suppressed by sectional clubs, rather a broader outlook was gained by the individual. One can be proud of one's province without interfering with one's greater Canadian loyalty. A vote of thanks was tendered the speaker, moved by C. R. Brencley and seconded by O. Taylor.

After Sir Arthur's address, Cleland introduced Prof. Whitnall who spoke in his inimitable humorous style on his recent trip in the West. He was sent out by the Canadian Medical Association to investigate and give evidence of the work of the chiropractor. Victoria, B. C., was the scene of the parliamentary committee which looked into this matter. Great tribute was paid to the hospitality and kindness of the Westerners. His trip was a very happy one.

In his mission, Prof. Whitnall showed convincingly that the chiropractor was not fitted to practise because of lack of knowledge of the human body and also of his conception of the ailments of the body. For a time the chiropractors by means of simple language held an upper hand at the meeting. But eventually the medical men showed that chiropractic was not all it was claimed to be, and

PHYSICISTS TO SEE NEW FORM OF ARC

Dr. Gray and Dr. Keys at Physical Society Today

At the meeting of the Physical Society to be held in the Macdonald Physics Building at 5 P.M., Lt.-Commander C. P. Edwards was to have delivered an address on "Radio and Direction Finding at Sea." Unfortunately the speaker is confined to his house owing to an attack of influenza, so that the lecture is postponed for a fortnight.

But at the meeting to-day, a number of experiments will be shown in place of the lecture. Dr. J. A. Gray will show and describe a new form of mercury arc, and the interference bands produced by means of the apparatus. He will also demonstrate the various uses of the new station voltmeter. Dr. Keys will explain the use of a simple viscometer and he will illustrate the principle of resonance by a spiral spring oscillator. Mr. J. A. Taylor will illustrate vibrations due to the voice, using light reflected from a small pool of mercury.

Staff, students and visitors are invited as usual.

CHANGES IN THE COURSES.

The changes in the courses in the Faculty of Medicine and in the Department of Commerce outlined in another column of this issue will not come altogether as a surprise to the Undergraduate body. In the case of the course in Commerce, which is to be lengthened in future to four years, the opinion has been frequently expressed that this was the one method of making the course as comprehensive as a University commercial course should be. Likewise the further announcement that the whole curriculum will be revised by a committee of the Faculty is a step in the right direction.

A great number of other Universities have now adopted a seven year, and in some cases an even longer, course in Medicine, and McGill in adopting this system is merely conforming to the general opinion of the academic world, namely, that no professional man should graduate from a University having only an entirely specialized training in his chosen profession. The only way this can be accomplished in the case of Medical men without lowering the standard of actual training in Medicine is by adding to the course a preliminary year or two years of study in which a general, but condensed course in Arts is given. This is what is to be the rule in future years at McGill. That it will be successful in its attempt to elevate the standard of graduates in Medicine there can be no doubt; that it is a concession to current views upon the matter, similarly can not be seriously questioned.

Speaking in this latter connection of combined courses brings to mind the not infrequent discussion of their merits. Of the benefits which they afford to the individual student who is so fortunate as to be able to take them, little need be said here. They are too evident. Of the effect of combined courses upon the student world as a whole, however, there is much room for divergence of sentiment. That, in substance being a means by which the undergraduates may acquire an Arts degree in a year or two of actual attendance at lectures in that faculty, thus enabling him to complete his Arts course and to obtain his degree, while, at the same time, working towards his graduation in another faculty, they serve to take away from the prestige of the Arts degree, can not be seriously questioned by those who give the matter serious deliberation and who do not place the Arts course upon a plan inferior to the more specialized lines of endeavour. A realization by the Arts graduate that what he has spent four years in attaining has been achieved, to all appearances, by another following only two years of industry in the Arts faculty, is not a consideration conducive to a satisfactory appreciation of his degree. It is an occasion for controversy as to whether or not this apparent detriment to the Arts course will be offset by a gain to those of Science and Medicine. If the loss has not been compensated the man with the degree of the combined course has benefitted at the expense of scholarship.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The action taken by a local sportsman, Mr. F. R. Whittall, in offering a cup for intercollegiate ski and snowshoe competition between the colleges of the United States and Canada, is deserving of hearty approval, just as to the spirit of the donor in offering the trophy and also as to the effect that it will have in stimulating activity in these great winter sports and in encouraging competition between the universities lying to our south and those to the north of the international border. Were there more such sport enthusiasts, who appreciate the value of incentive, and the part it plays in assisting the development of a keen concern in athletics, there would be an increasing number of participants in sports. It is a great deal to know that those who are not taking a competitive part are maintaining an active interest.

The Winter Carnival commences to-day. Ski-ing, ski jumping and snowshoeing are all on the programme for the next two days. While, owing to the different conditions prevailing at McGill and in Montreal as compared to those existing in some of the neighbouring colleges in the United States, it is hardly possible that the McGill Ski and Snowshoe Club could equal in some respects the efforts of the latter in the way of a Winter Carnival, yet it would be well if some feature of a distinctly McGill character could be included in the itinerary for the week-end. It is too late to attempt such now, but it is not too early to give thought to such for next year. The Old Campus would be an admirable site upon which to stage a festival of some description, and we feel that it would be advantageous if this fact be remembered by the committee in charge of arrangements for next winter.

HEAR ABOUT CHIROPRACTIC

 Their treatment was based on manipulation and a certain amount of guess-work as regard the actual existing condition of the patient. A brief stay of half a day was spent in Vancouver, and a few hours in Edmonton and Winnipeg. Dr. Whittall was greatly impressed by the Canadian West and enjoyed his brief visit immensely. While in Edmonton he became acquainted with their "extension system" of lending articles, this being based upon the honesty of the people.

D. F. Murray moved a vote of thanks to the speaker, seconded by J. Lloyd. A letter was read from Dr. Todd, past honorary president of the club expressing his warm feeling of friendship for the club although he was not able to be present now, being out in Africa. Here the president called upon Chadski, of Med. '24, who rendered a piano solo, which was received with much merited applause. A smoker was suggested to be held in a month's time and plans are under way to prepare for the next club gathering which will be announced at some later date.

INTERESTING TALK BY PROF. WILLIAMS

Lectures on "Frontenac" and "Chatham" at R.V.C.

Yesterday at R. V. C. a very interesting and instructive lecture was given by Professor Basil Williams on the subject of "What Canada owes to Frontenac and Chatham."

Professor Williams began his talk by contrasting the two men. Frontenac was a grand seigneur in the time of Louis XIV while Chatham came from the common class in the reign of George III.

The former was, unlike Chatham, present in Canada and inspired the inhabitants of New France with a love of race and language. It was Chatham who imbued the English speaking peoples with his ideas of free government.

Professor Williams then gave a synopsis of Frontenac's life and said that at the age of 15 years, he was a soldier while at 20 he was a Brigadier-General. In 1669 he was appointed admiral of the Venetian Fleet in the war against the Turks and three years later, he became governor general of Canada.

On his arrival, he was much impressed by the country although at this time the whole French population of Canada numbered only 10,000, Montreal having been founded 30 yrs before.

Frontenac was handicapped to a great extent by instructions from the ministers and the King which were constantly with his rivals.

Professor Williams remarked that Frontenac's methods of mastery were strangely similar to those of Governor Pitt who was at Madras at this time.

It was he who inaugurated the French policy of expansion and worked industriously for the betterment of the French in Canada. He was instrumental in recovering the Hudson Bay Territories. When besieged by Phips he was summoned to surrender and gave this reply—"Je n'ai pas de réponse à vous offrir, mais je répondrai par la bouche de mes canons." These words were characteristic of a brave man.

Chatham was born ten years after the death of Frontenac, in 1708, and he made a good many attempts to bring about a union between the Whigs and the Tories. He was given the office of Minister of War and conducted it most efficiently.

enrollment which amounted to 137. This number is somewhat in advance of the number who attended a similar course at Toronto which was in the vicinity of 75.

This course which was given in co-operation with the School of Commerce, the department of Economics, the Department of Trade and Commerce of Ottawa and the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, was held at McGill from January 29th to February 10th. It was unique in many respects from others held in the past and proved highly popular. Lectures were spread over the entire day, some series being given in the mornings, others in the afternoon or evening, all being arranged to suit the convenience of the students.

It was with regret that an example had to be made in connection with writing examinations. There are a few brief rules printed on the cover of examination books, one of which calls for honesty. A student, who took exception to these during the mid-term examinations, was reported and later asked to leave the university. This step was taken after due consideration and it is the hope that similar action will not be called for at McGill in the future.

Medical students will have their summer vacation curtailed at an earlier date than they have been accustomed to in the past. Lectures will start at the beginning of the fourth week of September, the date in 1923 being September 24th. They will however receive compensation for this since the period for examinations in May will be lessened in order that the medical students may attend the earlier convocation. This scheme will come into effect in the session of 1923-24. This is not the only change coming to the medical man; his sejour at McGill will be prolonged for another year making the total seven years. His first two college years will be spent in the Arts Faculty where a revised course will be given with attention to languages. His next four winters will be spent at the Medical Faculty followed by a year's training in a hospital. Regarding the two year Pre-medical Course the following extract from minutes of the Faculty of Arts under the date of January 5th, 1923 may prove interesting:—

The Faculty considered the report of the conference between the B. A. Advisory and B. Sc. Advisory Committees of the Faculty of Arts and the Education Committee of the Faculty of Medicine. The following points were agreed upon:—

1.—That there would be no difficulty about the Faculty of Arts undertaking the proposed curriculum of the First Year, though it was understood that this would probably involve additional instruction in Mathematics, French and Latin.

2.—That the curriculum of the first of the two pre-medical years should be revised by the striking out of the words "including Mechanics" after Mathematics.

3.—That in Physics the First Year course should be the same as that given to the Arts students (3 hour course.)

4.—That additional instruction would be needed in Chemistry but that no additional instruction would be necessary in the Department of Physics and Biology.

5.—That the Second Year as well as the First of the Course should be under the control of the Faculty of Arts but that there should be an advisory committee consisting of the professors giving the courses in Biology, Chemistry and Physics in the Second Year, the function of the Committee being to keep the Faculty of Arts in touch with the views of the Faculty of Medicine in regard to the content of these courses.

It was further decided that the passing mark in the pre-medical course should be the same as that in the other departments of the Faculty of Arts.

6.—That an optional subject should be added to the Second Year course (any subject that the time table conditions permit.)

DENTISTRY SEXTET TIED BY COMMERCE

Interfaculty League Game is Exciting

EVENLY MATCHED

Each Team Given One Point in Standing

In a game that provided the spectators with as many thrills as a three-ring circus to a five-year-old. Commerce and Dentistry played to a 5-5 tie on the Campus Rink last night. The thirteen Commerce and three Dentistry followers were well repaid for forsaking the delights of an early dinner to follow the fortunes of their favourites. Many Senior contests have been less exciting.

The pastime of spilling the dope has come into it down among the Intercollegiate teams this winter, and it would seem that the mania for upsets has extended even to the lesser leagues. Frankly, Commerce were lucky to tie the hard-working Dents, when it was expected that the Business Men would come out with a fairly easy win. At the end of the first period it looked dangerously like a Dent. runaway. The Toot-pullers outskated, outpassed and outchecked their white-sweated opponents, who showed little or no attempt at scientific hockey in this period.

Then in the second stanza the edge was as much in possession of the Commerce team as it had belonged to the Dents. in the first. It was not so much a case of a let-up on the part of the Dents, as the sudden coming to life of the Commerce team. They showed a tendency (though it was often not much more) towards combination, and a great improvement in back-checking that brought them on even terms with their rivals.

The outstanding individual performance of the game was furnished by Longley in the Dentistry nets. Although the Commerce sharpshooters repeatedly missed the nets in the first period, the Dent. goalie stopped more than the average share of hard, fast ones. Wilson, in the Commerce nets, was kept busy and kept the Dent. score within reasonable bounds when his team-mates failed to check the speedy Dents in the first spasm. Several times when shoved off his feet away from the net, the Dentistry forwards kindly obliged and shot wildly with an open net in front.

Although at times, as a brilliant exhibition of the national winter sport, the contest more resembled the proverbial shiny game still, due perhaps to the hair-trigger vigilance of the referee, not a single penalty was awarded.

Nearly all the Dents. had a hand in the scoring. Richardson, at centre, was spasmodically brilliant on single rushes and perhaps the hardest worker excepting Longley, on the team.

For Commerce, Robertson undoubtedly won first mention by his stellar performance in the second period. St. John and Murphy ran him a close second for effectiveness.

Richardson earned the first tally for the Red-sweated sextette when he scored after a pretty rush down the side. Commerce checked fairly well all this period, but confined their attack to a series of individual rushes. One of these resulted in the first Commerce score. Two minutes later Legge shot a fast one from the side, which sifted through the net before it was noticed by the goal judge. After an examination of the Commerce net, which was proved to be as full of holes as a C.O.T.C. rifle target, it was declared a goal. Four minutes later, Cool sifted one through a vacant spot in the net, Wilson having no chance to save.

In the second period, Commerce came from "behind the beyond" and after some nice combination Robertson tied the score. Gilpin combined with St. John for the tally which put Commerce in the lead and rendered the thirteen enthusiasts ecstatic with joy.

Longley made a beautiful save on a shot from Robertson from three feet in front. Richardson drilled one into the Commerce net, and again put the score on an even basis. Legge's unexpected shot from the side hit the goal post and caromed in past Wilson. Murphy shoved one under Longley's foot on a pass from Gilpin, and a minute later Gilpin made the last and tying score on a pass in front of the goal.

Referee Gilmour turned in one of the best exhibitions of refereeing seen on McGill ice, "Gido's" piercing whistle sounded for one kicked puck and three off-sides.

The line-ups were:—

CUP DONATED FOR SKIING CHAMPIONSHIP

International Intercollegiate
Challenge Trophy

F. R. WHITTALL DONOR

Held by Team Taking Most Points in Two Meets

F. R. Whittall, Esq., a graduate of Science '12 has very kindly donated a Challenge Cup which is to be emblematic of the International Intercollegiate Ski Championship, open to Universities and Colleges in the United States and Canada and to be held by the team which takes the greatest number of points in two meets, one of which is to be held in Canada and the other in the United States.

This announcement coming as it does on the eve of the McGill Intercollegiate meet will no doubt have the effect of inducing even keener competition in today and tomorrow's events, inasmuch as the question as to who will be the first college to hold the cup depends on whether or not the McGill representatives can overcome the four and a half point lead now held from last week's meet by their rivals from Dartmouth College.

The cup will be on display in Mappin and Webb's window on Victoria Street on Saturday morning, from whence it will go to its present unknown resting place for the next twelve months.

The events taking place today are as follows: Ski Proficiency Tests, Ski Cross Country Race, and Snowshoe Cross Country Race.

Tomorrow morning on the Campus at eleven o'clock the Ski and Snowshoe dashes, followed by the Ski Relay, Ski Obstacle and Snowshoes obstacle races will take place.

Tomorrow afternoon, the closing part of the schedule will be run off on the Mount Royal Ski Jumps on Cote des Neiges Road, when the Eastern Intercollegiate Ski Association championships take place. After the skiers have done their best to shatter previous records on the new jumps, Dick Bowler, of the Dartmouth Outing Club, will give an exhibition of somersaulting skis, which on the new slide ought to be an example without parallel in Montreal ski annals. Admission to the jumps will be fifty cents, but should the spectators so desire, they may occupy a grand stand seat upon payment of another half dollar.

The McGill men are all in first class shape and will be full out to overcome the lead of the Green and White team. The course and jumps will be more familiar perhaps to them than to their visitors, which will no doubt prove an advantage, although the visiting teams were nearly all out practising yesterday and will not be altogether new to the course.

Today's events will start promptly at 2.30 p.m.

SCIENCE DEFEATED MEDS. IN HOCKEY

Close Checking and Frequent
Substitutions Marked
Game

The Science All Star team won from the Med. All Stars by the score of 3-0 on the Campus Rink last night.

The game started with a rush, the rubber ranging from one end of the ice to the other. Five minutes after the game started Science pushed the puck past the Med. goal keeper for the first score of the game. With this the Med. team came to life and forced the play back to their opponents' end of the ice. The plumbers, by some good back checking, and fast work on the part of their net minder, succeeded in preventing a score, although they were not able to push the "Saw bones" back to their own territory for the greater part of the period.

When the two teams took the ice for the second and last period, the players wore that look of determination which foretold dark deeds and unhappy results to those who got in their way. The game commenced with Science getting the rubber, but losing it almost immediately to Med. Science secured it again, however, and three minutes after the start of the period the rubber was found resting in the back of the young doctors' net. Upon this last score Med. redoubled their efforts, but were unable to penetrate the Science defence, as a result of this the budding surgeons began shooting from outside the defence, but as this plan of action proved ineffective, it was dropped. Science began forcing the play, and before the whistle blew the puck had found its way once more into the back of the Med's goal, making the final count read 3-0 for Science.

The ice was in poor condition, and made any brilliant stick-handling an impossibility. The heavy going necessitated frequent changes of players, but as both teams were well supplied with substitutes, neither had any advantage in that department.

MANSON GETS SIXTY SEVEN FREE TRIES

Mendelsohn Scores 43 Baskets in games Up to Date

401-377

McGill Leads in Number of Points Scored in Various Games

Up to date this year the McGill Senior basketball team has won seven out of thirteen games played. Of the games won four have been in the City League, two on the recent trips to St. John, and one in the game against Crescent A. C. The ones lost have been four in the States and two in the Intercollegiate League. McGill has piled up a total score of 401, while their opponents have made 377 points against the Red and White team. The McGill players have scored as indicated below: Mendelsohn 43 baskets, Manson 35 baskets; Amaron 27; Crain 19; Turpel 18; Little 16; Hilton 4; Blumenstein 1. The players, however, have not played in the same number of games. Mendelsohn was unable to play the first two City League games; Little has been sick and missed the last two fixtures; Hilton was not on the trip to the States. Amaron, in the first part of the season, was used on the forward line, and helped bring his total up while in this position. During the past games Manson has sent the ball on 67 trips into the ring on free tries, and Little has netted 9 free tries.

The team stands at the bottom of the Intercollegiate League, but has a good possibility of creating a triple tie. They travel to Toronto to-day to meet the Blue and White team. The City League is almost completed. McGill must meet the M. A. A. A. team and Y. M. C. A. team, who are in their section of the City League and in all probabilities they will be in the play-off with M. A. A. A. for the championship.

Plans are being developed already for the Queen's game, which is to be played here a week from Saturday. The basketball club will probably stage an intermediate game prior to the opening of the final game of the series.

CAFETERIA WILL BE SCENE OF JAZZ TEA

This afternoon the Union House Committee will put on another of the popular jazz teas in the Cafeteria at four thirty p.m.

These teas are a comparatively new thing at McGill, but when they were first stated they met with such popularity that we decided to continue them. The music is always of the best. The University Dance Orchestra will be in attendance this afternoon. Nothing farther need be said concerning the music as the orchestra is well known to all. As for the food one can have just what they wish as long as they have the time, the inclination and the money.

The line-ups were as follows:—

Varsity, Queens and McGill
Teams Here Next Week

FEB. 23 and 24.

Home Team Have Good Record in City Games

The coming week will be a record one in the history of athletics at McGill, in that it will mark the first Women's Intercollegiate meet to be held in Montreal, when the members of Queens, Toronto and McGill will contest for the title of being Women's Intercollegiate champions.

Last year the second meet of the Women's Intercollegiate Basketball League was held in Toronto when Varsity succeeded for a second time in capturing the honors. This year the Students Council of McGill have very generously donated a trophy for Basketball, to be contested for annually, and there is a team not a thousand miles from Montreal, who are hoping that this trophy may spend its first year, at least, at McGill.

The R.V.C. team have been victorious in all their battles this season, with the exception of their first game with Macdonald, so that they are in the best of form and hope to uphold the honor of McGill most creditably. The contest opens when Queens play McGill on Thursday evening, then Queens play Varsity on Friday evening and the final game on Saturday night when Varsity play McGill.

Arrangements have been made for the visiting girls to stay at R.V.C., through the hospitality of R.V.C. girls residing in Montreal, who are temporarily adopting some of the residents.

The first game of the Intercollegiate Hockey League will be played in the Mt. Royal Arena, on Tuesday Feb. 27th when Varsity will meet McGill as Queens have now entered a team.

Tickets for the basketball games which will be held in Convocation Hall, R.V.C. are now on sale for the sum of fifty-five cents each or a ticket for the series for one dollar and ten cents. These may be obtained from the porters of the various buildings also at the Union, Strathcona Hall and R.V.C.

THINGS TO WORRY OVER

—By Psyche.

There has been mooted the formation of a Hunt Club at McGill. We feel that it's due for a long, hard ride.

We learn through a Bell Telephone Co. announcement that after Monday it will be impossible to set your watch by calling up Central. The operators simply haven't got the time.

The write-up of the Wednesday night dance of the M.S.P.E., gave to the world the interesting information that this was the second dance in the last three years. This frivolity must cease.

Some still claim that "When Knight-hood was in Flower" should have been nipped in the bud.

These be stirring times! Even the skiers will be kept on the jump.

In contrast, the snowshoers will find it pretty soft.

CAPT. COWLES WILL SPEAK THIS EVENING

This evening Capt. Eugene Cowles '09 will give an address before a joint meeting of the Montreal Branch of the Mining and Metallurgical Society and the McGill Branch. Capt. Cowles has spent thirteen years on the Rand as a mining engineer and is at present on leave of absence. During the war he took an active part in the fighting in South Africa. The address should be of interest in view of the recent labour troubles on the Rand and also of the increased importance of our own gold mines in Ontario.

The meeting will be held in the large lecture room of the Chemistry Building. Those interested are cordially invited to attend.

HOCKEY TEAM PLAYS U. of T. IN TORONTO

Final Game for Red and White Team

NEW MEN WILL PLAY

Younger Players to Make the Trip

McGill's 1923 Senior Hockey Team entrains to-night for Toronto where they will meet the Varsity sextet in their last engagement of the season.

The Red and White has triumphed over Toronto in the only Hockey engagement between the two so far this year and they are determined to show the Blue and White that they can duplicate this feat and defeat Varsity on its own ice.

By their defeat at the hands of the University of Montreal a week ago McGill has lost the opportunity of leading the Intercollegiate League but every man on the Red and White team will go into the game in Toronto with every ounce of energy he can muster to show that the defeat by the French team was only an unfortunate accident.

Varsity is still smarting from their only defeat by McGill hockey team for some years past and while speaking optimistically of their chances they are by no means underrating their opponents. The Varsity says "Beattie Ramsay's boys are again top dog in the Senior Intercollegiate. They have only one more river to cross — next Saturday they meet McGill the only Intercollegiate crew to take their measure this year."

"Shag" has intimated that he will carry several of the younger players on the trip and break them into Senior Hockey. The Bell who was taken from the Intermediates and gave such a praiseworthy exhibition in Montreal game will likely be on the ice for a large portion of the time. Weyse of the Intermediates will make his debut in the higher company relieving the forward line in order to keep the pace as fast as possible.

While McGill is battling in Toronto Queens will be fighting it out with the University of Montreal at the Mount Royal Arena. An added impetus to the play of the Red and White will be that if Varsity is defeated and Queens wins here, the two western universities will be tied for the leadership.

If Queens loses to the French team Varsity will have the leadership of the league and the Intercollegiate Hockey Championship for another season.

GYMNASTIC EVENTS WICKSTEED CONTEST

Practices at Montreal High Gymnasium Three Times
a Week

The exercises and events for the Annual Wicksteed Gymnastic competition have been completed and are announced below. This competition to be held early in March offers a better opportunity for men to display all round gymnastic and athletic ability than any other event on the University athletic program.

The competition is divided into three divisions:—

- 1—Students of graduating year; the winner to be awarded the Wicksteed silver medal and "M".
- 2—Students of second and third years; the winner to be awarded the Wicksteed bronze medal and "M".
- 3—Students of first year; the winner to be awarded the Dr. Harvey Cup.

The events will follow the same general lines as last year and all have an equal chance of winning. The object of this test is to promote all round physical efficiency and the programme consists of a new simple dance steps and a short drill, as well as several athletic events, all of which will be familiar to the men before the competition.

Practise periods for both the Wicksteed and Intercollegiate competitions are being held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Fridays at 6.00 P.M.—7.00 P.M., at the High School Gymnasium.

Any man who has any interest or ability for gymnastics or indoor athletics is invited to turn out to these practices when some one will be presented to coach and give any assistance.

The Wicksteed Competition will serve as a trial for those trying to make the Intercollegiate team and for this reason should see a large entry.

List of Events follows:—

- 1—Gymnastic Dance few simple steps taught at regular practice.)
- 2—Physical Drill (taught at regular practice.)
- 3—High Bar.
 - 1—Side hang — 1-2 lever — back circle to front rest — lower to side hang — back circle below bar to back hang — forward circle dismount.
 - 2—Side Stand — ordinary grasp — long underswing — flex legs between hands on fwd. swing and mount to momentary back rest — reverse grasp forward circle — 1-2 left turn to front rest — short backward circle — short underswing dismount.
 - 4—Parr. Bars.

R.V.C. JUNIORS DEFEAT SOPH. HOCKEY TEAM

Juniors Now Hold Inter-class
Championship

SCORE 1-0

Goal Made in the Closing Period

The last game of the inter-class hockey schedule was played off on the Hollow Rink yesterday afternoon. The match was between the Juniors and Sophs., and resulted in a victory for the Juniors, with the close score of 1-0. This makes the Juniors the champion hockey team at R.V.C., and gives them a point for the banner. The game, as a whole, was not very fast, both teams showing a lack of combination, but each side improved in play as the game progressed, and the victory was undecided until the last five minutes of play. E. Hutchison played a very good game for the Second Year, making a number of spectacular rushes up the ice, while R. Grant, of the Third Year, showed good form.

The puck changed hands considerably during the first period. E. Hutchison took the puck down to the Junior goal, and made a good shot for the goal, but this was saved by the '24 goalkeeper, E. Basken. Shortly after this, an offside was called, after which play centred around the Soph. goal. E. Petrie in the nets, however, played a steady game, and the period closed with no score.

The second period opened with a good rush by L. Bingham, of Third Year, down the ice. The puck was recovered by Second Year, however. E. Hutchison doing good work. The play in this period was rather slow, and there was too much bunching. R. Tenley, of Second Year, played a steady defensive game, and prevented C. Robertson from scoring quite frequently. This period also closed with no score for either team.

The third period was by far the best. Both teams seemed to exert themselves more. D. Hutchison did some good stick-handling, and Second Year were the attacking team. E. Basken, in the nets, for the Juniors, made one brilliant save, and the victory was undecided until the last five minutes, when C. Robertson passed the puck to R. Grant, who scored the only goal. Better combination was shown in this period, and Second Year played remarkably well, and would no doubt have made the score a tie except for the cool play of Miss Basken. The period closed with the score of 1-0 for the Juniors.

The line-up was as follows:

| Juniors. | Centre. | Sophs. |

tion in the proceedings due to a member of the Opposition, Hon. Reginald Rosebred member from Sussex asking a question in a foreign language. The Speaker finally referred his question to the Minister of Education for translation. It was pointed out at this stage that only two languages are officially used in the parliament.

The last question was to ask if it were true that the importation of lemons was to be stopped. An hon. member of the government pointed out that as long as there remained any Opposition the supply of lemons would be guaranteed.

Questioning over the real business of the session began, namely the reading of A Bill concerning the gender sex. The Clerk of the House read the Bill which condensed, was concerned with the granting of full privileges to women.

The mover of the Bill, the Hon. member from Westmount, said that the whole subject of women was unexceedingly subtle and delicate one.

In days past woman had been shrouded in mystery but now we know all about her. He said that she was becoming more and more like man. The more she imitates man the more she attracts attention. Now she is trying to earn her living, trying to run businesses even other people's businesses.

He concluded by saying that after what they had done in the war we should feel obliged to grant them privileges. "Let us give them their freedom," said the hon. member, "and thus give us our freedom. Let them earn the money and let us spend it. — (great applause.)"

The hon. member for Black Horse seconded the moving of the bill. He hinted at the deplorable lack of appreciation of woman. He said that their was only one class of woman, the university woman. The co-ed has come to the university to stay said he, just as the mayor of Montreal has come to stay. To pass the bill, concluded the speaker, will be assure in a new era of peace for the world.

The Leader of the Opposition is beginning his speech on the Bill first congratulated the Prime Minister on having attained his position. Referring to the Bill he said that there were two or three clauses in it not acceptable to his party. In concluded his speech he moved the Bill be amended so as to read without the 4th and 8th clauses.

At this point there was an interception in the gallery when Miss Bumovitch, niece of the famous Bumovitch, objected very strongly to the Bill. She said it would be degrading to have to sit on double benches with the hon. members, and that such a thing simply would not be endured. Uttering these words she seemed very near to tears but gulped them back and powdered her nose. It is rumoured that this damsel is not as much a lady as her clothes indicated. The speaker had to finally order the contentious objector to be removed by the sergeant-at-arms.

The Prime Minister received a present labelled, "from the gallery" but perhaps fearing it contained a bomb he did not seem inclined to open it. Subsequent investigation showed it to contain first-grade California prunes which were heartily enjoyed by the Premier and his Cabinet Ministers.

After further debate on the measure in question by members who had not already spoken. These speakers added considerable interest to the proceedings by speaking in French and thus concealed their remarks from all the members with the exception two or three on each side. At the close of the discussion a note was taken and the government sustained. The governor-general then entered and after complimenting his government on their efforts prorogued parliament. The weary members then entered eagerly into the after-session dance, with those women over whose enfranchisement they had so bitterly been fighting a few hours before.

The patronesses are Mrs. Laing, Mrs. Laing and Miss Hurlbatt.

PHARMACISTS OUT IN FULL FORCE

Wednesday evening Feb. 14 witnessed a most enjoyable evening for the Pharmaceutical Society sleigh drive. Pharmacy was out in full force and thirty happy couples participated in a most enjoyable and exciting evening.

With appropriate music rendered by the Kazoo band and shouts of laughter the two sleighs proceeded from the Medical Building for a tour around Cote-des-Neiges. Song and laughter was the key note for the evening and more than one couple felt the exhilarating effect of being thrown out.

The merry gathering returned to the Medical Assembly Hall at 10.30 where refreshments and music crowned a most enjoyable evening.

Worried: Do you think I'll make her happy?
Frank: Well, she's always had something to laugh at.

It is not generally known from which point of view the speaker will approach this subject — so their papers are being looked forward to with a considerable amount of expectation.

It is hoped that both Dr. Dery, and Prof. DuRoiere will be able to attend the group.

Members of the group should make special effort to be present as this is the first time the group meets at the U. of M.
